

Researching Yazidi Women in Kurdistan Region of Iraq Remotely: Methodological Challenges

SCAN

Presenter

Busra Nisa Sarac

Lecturer in Terrorism Studies in the School of Criminology and Criminal Justice (SCCJ) at the University of Portsmouth

15:00 CET

19 February 2024

<https://msteams.link/18JD>

Meeting ID: 380 555 022 848

Password ID: evYlW4

Since 2014, the world has witnessed pervasive gender-based violence against Yazidi women by the so-called Islamic State, encompassing sexual assault, economic instability, and social insecurity. This presentation, based on research into their coping strategies during and after captivity, aims to shed light on the methodological challenges faced during the research period. It also discusses the strategies developed to address these challenges, with the intention that they may be beneficial to other scholars conducting similar research.

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon Europe
coordination and support action
101079460 – REMOTEXUAR – HORIZON-
WIDERA-2021-ACCESS-03

Funded by the European Union

Remote Ethnography
X U A R